McGOON'S TAXI CO. REBORN

Howard and Marian "Goonie" McGoon,

The original McGoon's Taxi Company, owned and operated by Howard A. McGoon and his family, was established in the 1920's as a bus and sightseeing company. New Packard taxis were, eventually, introduced to serve Rochester and the surrounding communities.

Drivers for McGoon's chauffeured many of Rochester's famous and infamous visitors over the years. Howard and his wife Marian, affectionately dubbed "Goonie" by her loved ones, journaled and related their experiences for their children and grandchildren, who continue to retell them today.

Now located in the historic Olmsted County Bank and Trust building in downtown Rochester, McGoon's Taxi Co. is a comfortable pub and restaurant. Photos and memorabilia adorn the walls offering you a glimpse into the history of Rochester through the lives of the McGoon family.

OLMSTED COUNTY BANK & TRUST COMPANY ROBBED!

On December 4, 1926, the Olmsted County Bank & Trust Company was robbed. Several perpetrators burst into the bank with guns drawn, demanding silence. Bank officer Charles F. Dabelstein was struck down with a blow to the head for defying the gunmen.

Police responded to the scene by taxicab, due to a lack of squad cars. The entire police department turned out and a number of shots were fired. Two police officers were shot and wounded.

The bank's alarm system, which was designed to call for armed assistance from volunteer Rangers at other local banks, failed to operate and the thieves escaped the building. An investigation ensued and, eventually, one of the robbers was arrested and convicted of the crime. His accomplices, however, were never caught.
